HIT BY TRACTION CAR AND KILLED

George W. Trader of Osgood Failed to Hear Warning Whistle at Seventh and Spencer Streets.

WAS VISITING RELATIVES HERE

Testimony at Coroner's Inquest Lays Blame of Accident Almost Wholly on Victim.

George W. Trader of Osgood, sixty-five years old, was struck and almost instantly killed by an east-bound I. & C. traction car at the corner of Spencer and Seventh streets about seven-thirty o'clock this morning. He did not hear the warning whistle of the car, according to the testimony at the coroner's inquest, until it was within five feet of him and then made an attempt to get out of the way. About the only wound which he received was a long ugly gash on his forehead where he was hit by the car. He was knocked several feet to the north track and died a few minutes afterwards.

The testimony of all of the witnesses at the coroner's inquest shows that the fault for the accident lays wholly with the victim. George Schrader, who was the motorman on the east-bound car due here at 7:20 in the morning, which car killed Trader, testified that he passed the west-bound car, in charge of Conductor James A. Riggs and Motorman E. L. Jordan, due here at 7:09 in the morning, near the Dagler crossing and about five hundred feet above the Spencer street crossing, where the accident happened. Clayton Dagler, who was waiting at the Dagler crossing for the car to pass, testified to the same thing. The rumor was current this morning that Trader had dodged the west-bound car and had stepped in front of the east-bound car. This was proven to be false testimony.

Schrader testified that when his car was within two hundred feet of the Spencer street crossing, he saw a man approaching the track and supposed that, of course, he would get out of the way. He said that he was running the car at a moderate rate of speed because he was ahead of time. Schrader said at the coroner's inquest that he whistled for the crossing and when he saw the man, gave several short blasts. He testified that he still believed that Trader would get out of the way and did not slow down. When the car was almost on the man, Schrader said that he gave several more short warning blasts, expecting him to step back. Instead of that he came straight ahead and when within a few feet of the man Schrader began to put on the brakes, whistling all the time. He said that the man never appeared to hear the whistle until the car was within five feet of him and then he made an attempt to get out of the way. But it was too late then and he was hit and knocked several feet to the north of the track. The car was stopped within one hundred feet from where the accident happened, according to the motorman.

Lew Adams and Will Toloday, teamsters, who were sitting on a hay wagon near the traction crossing, when the accident happened, also testified at the inquest. They said that Trader did not seem to hear the warning whistle of the car. They testified that it was their belief that Trader was deaf. Toloday said that he spoke to Trader when he passed their wagon, but that he failed to answer. Schrader also believes that Trader was deaf. The members of the Trader family contend that Trader's hearing was not affected.

Trader came here Sunday from Osgood for a visit with his brother,

Thomas Trader and family at 830 West Eighth street. He left there this morning with the intention of going to the home of his sister, Mrs. William Curry, in West Fifth street, to spend the day. Those were the last words his relatives heard him say, that he was going to his sister's for a visit. He had only gone a square when he was killed.

Life was extinct in Trader's body within a few minutes after the accident. He was knocked several feet to the north side of the track. Several people reached his side before he died and say he never regained consciousness. He was removed to the home of his brother and the coroner called. Trader's body was hardly scratched or bruised. His forehead seemed to be the only portion of his body with which the car came in contact.

Trader was a barber in Osgood. He is survived by a widow, one daughter, Grace, one son, George, Jr., both of whom are young and live at home and one older son, Theodore, who lives in Cincinnati, Ohio. The body will be shipped to Osgood for burial.

GAME WARDEN MAY BE OUSTED

A. M. Gallion, Deputy Known Here, Will Probably be Asked to Hand in His Resignation.

TROUBLES ALL IN A BUNCH

Too much trouble can not pile up in the path of A. M. Gallion of Logansport, the deputy game warden, who was here for several days. After being shot by an alleged game law violator he was arrested, charged with wife desertion. It is now said that he may be ousted from his position. The Indianapolis Star says today:

A. M. Gallion of Logansport, deputy game warden, who is said to have been shot by James Haynes, an alleged poacher, in Milroy township, Jasper county, last week, and for whom a requisition was granted by Governor Marshall to Ohio authorities, who charge him with wife desertion, will be asked to resign if an investigation to be conducted by George W. Miles, Indiana fish and game commissioner, shows Gallion guilty of wife desertion.

RELIEVE AUDIENCE OF SPARE CHANGE

Said That Several People Were Losers After Entering Side Show Here Yesterday.

TOOK MONEY OUT OF POCKETS

It is stated on the streets today that more than one man and boy is loser, due to the fact that he entered the side show with the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows here yesterday. It is said that they had some sort of an electrical appliance, which, when turned on the victim would incapacitate him to protect himself and they would loot his pockets. A local man says that they tried the graft on him and that he slapped the woman who was running the game. A man nearby took a hand in the fray and he, too, was knocked down. It was said today that several little acts of that character took place in the side show tent during the day. One man said that they even attempted to work on small boys and did relieve some of them of all of their money.

SHRINERS WERE MERRYMAKERS

Two Hundred People Gathered to See the Parade to the Circus Grounds Begin.

TWELVE GUESTS WERE HERE

An Elaborate Banquet Was Served at the Temple After the Show.

They came, they saw, they—had a good time. Fun and all the fun that was possible was indulged in by forty-four Rush county Shriners and their twelve guests from Fayette county. The circus party and banquet given by the members of the order from this county can be expressed in the hackneyed term, "a grand success."

About two hundred people, some through curiosity, some through mutual interest, gathered at the Masonic Temple to see the parade take form, place and start. The Rushville band playing "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," led an automobile in which a gigantic representative of order's pin was carried. This was followed by the four camels and the fez-capped gentlemen on foot. The line of march was south on Main street to Second, west on Second street to Buena Vista avenue, northwest on Buena Vista to Third street, and west on Third street to the circus grounds.

R. M. Harvey, manager of the circus, who is a Shriner at Des Moines, took the body through the side show, and the animal tent before the parade around the circus ring, in which Raymond Hargrove doffed his fez to the crowd from a camel's back.

After the circus an elaborate banquet was served at the Temple consisting of: Glace Arabian, Salted Almonds of Persia, Young Pheasant of Arabia, Pomme de Terre a la mode, Asparagus avec Mushrooms en casserole, Hot Rolls of Biscaya, Red Raspberry de Sherbet, Egyptian Salad, Salted Waferettes, Neapolitan Chili, Kisses of Persia, Arabian Ambrosia, Egyptian Smoke, Mints of Arab's Dream.

After the banquet several toasts were given, which were on topics appropriate to the occasion. The sun had not arisen, but it was morning, when it was decided that the spring of Rushville in the oasis of Rush county was a never ending flow of the purest, the richest, and the most refreshing of water which, well equals those invigorating and delightful springs encountered only on the oasis of the desert.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

Mrs. J. F. Conoway was called to Anderson this morning to attend the funeral of her nephew, Charles Bisher. He was at one time a resident of this city.

STILL WORKS AT 96.

The Hope Journal states that Wesley Pottorff, who has just celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday at his home in Harts-ville, is still active and works every day. About the time of his ninety-sixth birthday he white-washed some trees and injured himself slightly by reaching above his head, but he expects to recover his usual health shortly and be able to be out and at work again as usual. Last summer Mr. Pottorff shingled his barn without assistance. He is hale and hearty and possesses all of his faculties intact except that his sense of hearing is dulled slightly.

TAKEN BACK TO ANSWER CHARGE

Jesse West, Arrested Here Yesterday Evening, Goes Back to Hamilton, Ohio, in Handcuffs.

WAS VISITING RELATIVES HERE

Wanted There For Theft of a Large Quantity of Brass and Non-Support of Child.

Jesse West, who was arrested yesterday evening by City Marshal Harlow on a serious charge preferred at Hamilton, Ohio, was taken back to Hamilton this afternoon by a detective in the employ of the city. West is charged with grand larceny and is also wanted in the juvenile court for the non-support of a child. He has been missing from Hamilton about six weeks and the police have been on the hunt of him almost continually.

Yesterday morning Sheriff Bebout and City Marshal Harlow received a letter from the authorities at Hamilton, in which it was stated that West was wanted. Twelve hours had not elapsed before the city marshal had the man in jail. He has been here since the Fourth of July visiting relatives.

The detective from Hamilton, Ohio, said this afternoon that West was wanted for the theft of a large amount of brass and iron. He said that an affidavit had been sworn out against him, but that the police had never been able to catch him. He said that West was a laborer in Hamilton without any regular employment. He stated that West had been engaged at several different kinds of work recently.

West, it seems, was ordered by the court to support his small child which is in the custody of its mother, from whom he has a divorce. West agreed to pay two dollars a week to keep the child and has failed to keep his contract for the last five weeks, according to the officer here today. He is wanted by the Juvenile judge for that reason.

West will not admit that he is guilty of the charges preferred against him. He will not say that he did not steal the brass. He says that his former wife agreed to let him see the child whenever he wanted to and then refused to stay by the agreement. He admits that he failed to pay for the child's support.

INFERS WORK WILL BE STARTED

Telegram is Received From Adams Company That W. H. Adams Will Come Tomorrow.

MUCH MATERIAL IS HERE NOW

A telegram was received from W. H. Adams of the Adams Brothers Construction company of Zanesville, Ohio, who were awarded the contract for the paving of Main and Second streets with brick under the three-mile gravel road law, this morning, which stated that Mr. Adams would be here tomorrow. The message inferred that Mr. Adams wished to be assured that the bonds would be sold and that the work on the improvement would be started at once. The contractors already have three car loads of brick and a car load of machinery here, so that they can begin the work almost immediately.

MADE A PERFECT SCORE

Kokomo Judge Returns From Extensive Auto Trip Here.

Judge L. J. Kirkpatrick has returned from a few days in Rush county, says the Kokomo Tribune. He made the trip in his automobile, driving the car himself, taking Mrs. Kirkpatrick and his father and mother along. They visited relatives and friends besides making a pretty complete tour of the county, including a visit to the home where the judge was born, to the house where his father was born and also to that in which his mother was born. When he got back home the speedometer showed that he had traveled about 300 miles, and that he made what drivers call a perfect score.

AUTO CRASHED THROUGH BARN

HORSE AWAKENS NEIGHBORS

Homer Powell, living at the corner of Morgan and Seventh streets, was suddenly awakened from sweet dreams early this morning by a noise which sounded very much like an earthquake. He bounced out of bed and was running around the house to locate the trouble. Elmer Humes was also looking for the rest of the noise. Investigation showed them that it was only their neighbor's automobile, which had become fractions and run through the side of the barn, plowing up the garden.

Lew Oneal, living just across the street on the corner, went out to the barn early this morning and cranked up his auto to go down town. The machine was in low gear and when the engine was set in motion, the auto just crashed through the end of the barn and out into the garden. The garden truck was torn up considerably and the wind shield was torn off the machine.

MAKE NEW RECORD FOR MONEY ORDERS

Postoffice Force Kept Busy Filling Out the Blanks, Most of Which Went to Peru.

THE CIRCUS BRINGS BUSINESS

Yesterday the local postoffice did what might be termed a land office business in its money order department. Practically all of the clerical force of the office assisted in writing the 102 money orders that were made out, amounting to the sum of $1806, which is also the record amount of money taken in to cover the principle of the orders. The previous record in the number of government post-office checks made out in one day was 85. The large amount of business was nearly all due to the circus, for they had paid off on the previous Saturday evening and a great many of the employees are accustomed to send part of their wages to their homes. One of the postoffice employees states that the greater majority of the money went to Peru.

Some enthusiastic Porto Ricans predict that their island will grow all the lemons consumed in the United States in another ten years.

POLICE HEAR OF MINOR THEFTS

Petty Robberies Reported to Authorities Today, But Nothing of Great Value Was Taken.

HOUSE RANSACKED LAST NIGHT

Watch Stolen at Circus, Several Sets of Harness Stolen and Money Is Lost.

Circus day and night following was comparatively quiet here, although several minor robberies were reported to the police. One watch was stolen, a house ransacked, harness stolen, money lost and clothes taken. The stolen property has not been found in any instance.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sampson of West Fifth street returned home last night to find that their home had been ransacked. They found that absolutely nothing had been taken. They examined the house carefully, but failed to find anything missing. All of the drawers in the house had been opened and looked through, but the thieves evidently found nothing to their liking.

Several sets of harness were stolen from the Case lumber yard and planing mill barn some time last night. The theft was discovered this morning and two men connected with the company left immediately for Connersville, where the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows exhibited today, to locate the stolen property, if possible. It is the belief that the harness was stolen by a hanger-on or employee of the circus as the tents were in very close proximity to the Case barns.

Al Linville had a valuable gold watch stolen from the top pocket of his coat at the night performance of the circus. He has nothing left but the chain. He says that he sat down at the show and laid his coat across the back of his seat. When he picked up his coat to see what time it was his watch was gone, but the chain remained. He searched the ground in that vicinity, but failed to find the ticker and believes that it was stolen from his pocket.

A woman, whose name was never learned by the police, complained to them yesterday afternoon that she had lost twenty dollars. She was not certain whether or not it had been stolen from her. She said that she thought that it had been securely placed away in her dress so that it could not possibly have been lost.

The police have so far been unable to apprehend the thief who entered the Johnson Jones tailor shop Sunday night or Monday morning and stole a suit of clothes and a pair of pants. They have absolutely no clew on which to work.

ROOSEVELT

AS SEEN BY AN ENGLISHMAN.

By Sydney Brooks.

Sydney Brooks, a famous British writer, gives in McClure's for July, a brilliant estimate of Theodore Roosevelt. "What Europe Thinks of Roosevelt" is the subject of the remarkable article, which, in part, is as follows: "Any nation would be glad to reckon Roosevelt among its assets if it could. At the bottom of the extraordinary enthusiasm of the welcome that has everywhere greeted him on the continent, is the consciousness that every country in Europe needs a Roosevelt of its own. 'If only we had someone like him' is the thought behind the attentions that have been showered upon him. And the thought is echoed nowhere more responsively than in England. People here feel that they would know what to do with Mr. Roosevelt, and I dare say Mr. Roosevelt feels that he would know what to do with them."

"We have to roll half a dozen Englishmen together to get Mr. Roosevelt's full measure. Take Mr. F. C. Selous, the big game hunter, add Dr. Fitchett, the semi-historian, add again the breeziness of Lord Charles Charles Beresford, who might be at least half a Roosevelt himself if he were not an Irishman, add again Lord Curzon's instinct for domination and his superb self-confidence, mingle with something more than a dash of Lord Kitchener's remorseless efficiency, throw in at least as much decisiveness, practicality, and belligerency as Mr. Chamberlain has ever commanded, and, finally, leave the resultant with an ardent Gladstonian in its intensity—and you have a combination not by any means unlike the ex-President."

Mr. Brooks declares that Mr. Roosevelt is a man of ordinary endowments extraordinarily developed. "So far from being a genius," asserts this careful foreigner, "Mr. Roosevelt is a proof of how little genius has to do with an infinite capacity for taking pains." Mr. Brooks once said in speaking of the former president, "a pork butcher can understand him." Mr. Roosevelt has affirmed the same thing. It is as Brooks says in his magazine article, "Being fundamentally a healthy original and elementary man, direct in all his actions, in his character and instincts, and particularly in his mental processes, the simplest and most obvious explanation of him is all but invariably the right one. The ex-president himself holds firmly and sincerely to the notion that he is essentially a commonplace person."

Commonplace or not, he has a way of reaching the common heart, and in all things he grips hand with the common citizen in the name of the common good.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Union, a labor paper published in Indianapolis, speaking of the "western idea" so-called, declares that the western idea means the relegation of bossism and business politics to the far rear, and the infusion of progressive principles into public life. Referring to the Democratic bossism which has barred W. J. Bryan from speaking in the Indiana campaign, the Union declares, editorially: "If the Indiana Democracy has determined to serve any part of the predatory interests, and oppose legislation for the people, they might as well hang up the fiddle and the bow, 'for the game is off, and no rain checks will be given out.' The Union goes on to say that a party to gain support must deserve it. "To get provender from the public crib the donkey must do something else than bray and switch his worthless tail, and the elephant something more serious than throwing straw at the eager multitude."

Speaking of A. J. Beveridge and John W. Kern, the labor paper says both are "excellent men," but asserts that their election will depend on their political program and the work they will perform for the people. "The people are tired," says the Union, "of electing 'good men' who will support unspeakably bad policies. They now demand that their chosen ones' public virtues shall equal their private pretensions."

There is serious and certain warning in all this for the Democrats of Indiana, who so basely betrayed the cause of labor in 1909, after pledging the Democratic party completely to labor's interests, in 1908.

The Ft. Wayne Journal-Gazette, Steve Fleming's organ, says that "with Governor Marshall's candidacy for president as a stimulus," Allen county ought to go 5,000 Democratic in 1910. It is evident Mr. Fleming expects the Marshall boom to do better in November than it did in the spring, when it failed to get even a favorable mention in the Democratic state convention resolutions.

The New Castle Courier declares that Governor Marshall's attack on Theodore Roosevelt "stamps Marshall as a small-fry politician and demagogue." Why not just let it go at "small-fry politician?"

Congressman Crumpacker, who predicted last spring that the Taft administration would get some good legislation, is feeling good over the record made by congress.

MORE PARTY "HARMONY"

Eighth District Democratic Repudiate Their State Platform.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, July 19.—Reports from the Eighth district indicate that Republicans are well pleased with the Democratic resolutions passed by the convention which nominated J. A. M. Adair for congress. It is pointed out that Mr. Adair's convention joined the other Democratic repudiators of the Democratic state platform, and put forth a tariff plank which is out of line with the state plank, written by Senator Shively. Where the state Democratic platform declares for a "tariff for public purposes," and against discrimination against industry, section, class or occupation, in the making of schedules, the Eighth district Democratic crowd loudly demands an immediate revision downward of the Payne tariff law, declaring the theory that Democrats are the real nifty boys to be depended on for revising everything downward. The Adair Democrats are in line with Governor T. R. Marshall for immediate revision of the tariff. In other words, they refuse to wait for the tariff commission idea to work out, but would plunge the country once more into industrial and business uncertainty. Their attack on existing prosperity, according to their own pronouncement, would be "immediate."

The Adair platform and the Marshall pronouncement for a tariff for revenue only, are taken by wise ones as a factional effort to push forward the tariff as the sole campaign issue, thus dodging other important questions.

Now there is no ground on which Republicans feel more at home than on the aggressive forcing of a protective tariff campaign. The people stand committed to the protective principle. They have voted, by tremendous pluralities to preserve in practical and beneficent effect the idea which for many years has proved its value as a prosperity producer and as a contentment promoter. The people are glad to acknowledge that protection is good enough for them, and they are quick to assert that they want no Democratic revision such as is proposed by Congressman Adair's platform.

It is decidedly disheartening to Democrats like Senator Shively, who write party platforms for Democrats with an eye solely to vote catching, and who cover up the real Democratic purpose with a poulitice of soft and meaningless phrases, to find districts like that of Adair breaking out and shouting for immediate revision, and for resumption of the old Democratic agitation of the tariff. It is disconcerting to Shively and the Taggart crowd to find such men as Adair and Governor Marshall trying to make a clean-cut issue of the tariff at a time when the evasive Democratic bosses would like to squirm away from the issue of protection and toll a few voters into camp on other questions.

A Democratic farmer in Henry county was interviewed a day or two ago by George W. Williams, a Knightstown merchant. The Democratic farmer had come in to trade. He had just bought his ten-year-old son a complete outfit of up-to-date clothing. Said Mr. Williams to the Democratic farmer: "How old were you before you owned an outfit like that expensive?"

"Well, sir," replied the Democratic farmer, "I was way past twenty-one before I ever knew such luxuries and comforts as that boy of ten takes for granted today. Great Scott, but times have changed! Nowadays I am so situated that I can bring the folks in and they can buy what they want and they can pick things over and afford to make choice of the good things. Time was, some fifteen years ago, when we came in with our 19-cent corn and went to the store to buy a pair of shoes. We didn't buy anything but just what we had to have, those days. The dealer would ask what we wanted, and we would say, mighty quick, 'The cheapest you've got in the house.' That was the rule in the old, cheap days. But it is different now. We buy the good things because we can afford to do it, and we feel more comfortable and live in lots better contentment. For one I cannot understand why some politicians object to the good prices we have been getting for our farm products. So far as I am concerned, I do not ask for a change in conditions."

Two Clinton county farmers who talked with Fred A. Sims the other day, reported that Republicans in the rural districts are all in line for the Republican ticket from end to end. Roosevelt is especially strong with them. Beveridge is a favorite among them. Taft, with the record of high achievement shown by his administration thus far, has won his way into general esteem. Said one of these Clinton county farmers to Mr. Sims: "It won't do the Democrats any good to come down our way talking against good prices for farm products. Times never were better than they are with us. We know of Democrats right in our neighborhood who are preparing to vote the Republican ticket this year. Why? Because they like Republican times. They are pretty well pleased with the prices they are getting; thank you, and they say that if the Republican tariff is to blame for those prices, they are willing also to give credit for their prosperity where the credit and blame belong. The Democrats seem to feel that the farmers' improved prices are due to Republican legislation. If that is a point on which all agree, it is not necessary to go further."

HAVE AGREED ON WORKING BASIS

Walk Out On the Pennsylvania Probably Averted.

CALMLY TALKED THINGS OVER

Heart-to-Heart Conference Between the Representatives of Men and General Manager Resulted in Clearing Up of Misunderstandings and the Creation of a Working Basis on Which to Conclude Peaceful Negotiations.

Philadelphia, July 19.—After the joint committee of the conductors' and trainmen's unions on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh had held conferences with General Manager Myers of the railroad company, it was announced by both sides that a working basis had been agreed on, many misunderstandings cleared up and the likelihood of a walk-out in all probability averted.

Officers of the company said the road had not decided to make any increase, which position it has right along maintained. The union leaders of the conductors and trainmen, likewise, claimed that they had been entirely successful in getting the company to adopt such working conditions as the men had been contending for.

The following statement was issued by the company after the conferences: "At the conference between General Manager Myers and the committee representing the trainmen and conductors employed on the lines of the Pennsylvania east of Pittsburgh, Mr. Myers again reiterated the company's position, explaining in detail just what the company would do."

"At a later conference the men accepted the general manager's plan, which in effect was that the company would put into effect conditions, including a minimum day, as detailed in the New York Central award, leaving the company's high rates stand, but not increasing them by making a ten-hour day apply to the rates which were made to fit an eleven- and twelve-hour day."

"The crux of the dispute," explained a Pennsylvania official, "was whether the company would pay for a ten-hour day what it now pays for an eleven-hour day, namely, $4.04. This the company absolutely refused to do, but agreed as it said all along it would agree to do, to pay $3.63 for a ten-hour day, allowing all higher rates for longer days to stand as they are now. This has been the principal bone of contention right along and the company long ago signified its intention and willingness to accept the $3.63 for a ten-hour day, according to the new award of the eastern federation of the trainmen."

The trainmen explained that the misunderstanding to which they have referred for the past few days concerned this very provision, and they say it was because of the misunderstanding on this point that they requested meetings. They said that the company had misunderstood them and that they had never sought to be paid $4.04 for a ten-hour day.

The union men contended that all they had sought was the consent of the company to make a ten-hour day the minimum basis of paying wages, thereby abolishing the present system of paying its men a fraction of a day's wage for a fraction of a day's service.

COULDN'T AGREE

Grand Trunk Trainmen and Conductors Have Quit Work.

Montreal, July 19.—A strike of all the conductors and trainmen on the Grand Trunk railway system went into effect at 9:30 o'clock last night. The strike is the result of the failure to arrive at an amicable settlement. A committee representing the men has been in Montreal for some time negotiating with the company. The committee demanded the adoption of the standard territorial wage, but President Hays refused to agree to this.

A strike vote was taken last week, and the men were unanimous for a strike unless their demands were granted. The ultimatum of the men was made known to the president yesterday, but he refused to grant the demand and the meeting was broken off and a strike was called and went into effect last night. Over 4,000 men are involved.

Extent of Grand Trunk system: Grand Trunk and leased lines, 3,356 miles; Canadian Atlantic, 466; Grand Trunk, western, 336; Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee, 191; Toledo, Saginaw & Muskegon, 116; total mileage operated, 4,645, besides which a large mileage is used under lease throughout northern United States and Canada.

Extends Into Vermont.

New London, Conn., July 19.—All the conductors and trainmen on the Central Vermont railway walked out on strike at 9:30 o'clock last evening. New London is the terminal of the Grand Trunk via the Central Vermont. The strikers are orderly and are congregated in groups about the city, awaiting developments.

Talks at Emporia, the Hot Bed of Insurgency.

PAYS RESPECTS TO BRISTOW

In Parliamentary Terms Uncle Joe Passes Short and Ugly Word on to Senator From Kansas, Points Out Way to Reach Aldrich if Latter Has Organized a Trust, and Lets Drop an Interesting Roosevelt Hint.

Emporia, Kan., July 19.—When a political writer stepped into the room of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon in the Hotel Whitley yesterday afternoon he found the speaker in a rocking chair near the window. Standing by him and holding his hand was William Allen White, the insurgent editor of the Emporia Gazette. Mr. White was in excellent spirits and was talking in kindly fashion as he wrung Mr. Cannon's hand. As for Uncle Joe, he looked up with a twinkle in his eye and told him what he thought about insurgents in general.

Not once did the talk take on a personal nature. Both the speaker and the insurgent editor-author were in the best of humor. They parried on the tariff question; they rallied each other on that which confronts the American people, and each smiled as the other was successful in "coming back."

"We'll not have revision downward so long as 'Uncle Joe' cannonizes," volunteered White.

"Soon we'll have a red-headed insurgent novel with Vic Murdock as the hero, inflicted on the people by one William Allen White," was the good-natured rejoinder. At that moment a messenger arrived. Tearing open the telegram, Speaker Cannon read it with a boyish grin. "I knew he'd do it, all the time," he said. Then he read a telegram from the east in which the statement was made that Colonel Roosevelt will endorse President Taft's administration before he leaves on his speaking tour. Speaker Cannon replied to Senator Bristow's attack on the rubber schedule in his speech in the afternoon. When he arose to speak he again felt the effects of the heat, and Congressman Miller had to apply ice to his neck. He showed no signs of collapse, however, and concluded his talk.

"I do not say," he said, "that the senator [Bristow] willfully falsified, because I do not know; but I do say that he either willfully told what was not true or that he was ignorant, and so far as its effect upon his constituency is concerned, ignorance is as mischievous as an untruth. I submit that the senator intended his audience to understand that, notwithstanding the increase in the importation of crude rubber, the imports of manufactured rubber decreased. The truth is, as I have shown from the figures, that the importations of manufactured rubber increased under the Payne law in spite of 5 per cent higher duty. Upon these misstatements which Senator Bristow makes himself responsible for, he builds his charges against his brother senators. So far the statement is Mr. Bristow's; then he proceeds to put in quotation marks—what his authority is God knows, I do not—that Senator Aldrich and others proceeded at once to organize a rubber trust. I do not know whether or not Senator Aldrich and others organized a trust. Being uninformed, I neither deny nor affirm, but if Senator Aldrich, occupying his great position, did organize a trust, then under the Sherman anti-trust act, provided that trust is engaged in interstate commerce, he is liable not only to severe punishment by fine, but by imprisonment in the prison."

SIDE TALKS ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS

By Old John Henry.

To the Editor:

I see that Governor Marshall, Steve Fleming, Crawford Fairbanks, Tom Taggart, and a lot of other fellows, including the great army of law-breakers, are agreed on the proposition that churchfolks ought to give all their time to prayer and inward-looking, and hymn-singing, and never take any sort of hand in public affairs.

Governor Marshall tells us that the church arranges a "certain class against itself" every time the church demands legislation.

By sitting tight and sucking its thumb, the church may win the smiling indulgence of Steve Fleming and the rest. But if the church gets busy for reform or for law enforcement, then, according to Governor Marshall, Steve Fleming and his bunch are pretty sure to be sorely displeased. Which is really a result most awful to think about.

Steve Fleming can whip the Twelfth district into line for Marshall and peddle state jobs up and down to win delegates for Marshall's whim. But the church has no business in politics or in legislation. Is that right?

The brewers can manipulate a Democratic caucus, or trick a Democratic state convention, name a brewery attorney for United States senator and write the brewers' will into the Democratic state platform, but the church must stay at home and say nothing. Is that the "dope"?

Tom Taggart may rise in a Democratic state convention and force the endorsement of his personal lawyer for United States senator, and the church can read about it in the papers afterward.

Taggart can vote 179 delegates in one bunch for any man he chooses, without asking the leave of the 179. But no church man has any business appearing to say Taggart nay. Is that what is meant?

Truly, as now controlled, the Democratic organization is no place for a minister's son. Perhaps Governor Marshall is right, that far.

But it strikes me that church members of Indiana will be slow to accept the governor's dictum against church activity for the betterment of society.

Knowing as we do that men who are most active in the state's political life today, on the Democratic side, are scheming to destroy the existing temperance laws, we can readily see why Steve Fleming and his kind desire that church people shall stay out of politics. Church people united, will prevent the destroyers from getting in their work.

It is hard to understand why Governor Marshall, himself a church man, permits himself and the prestige of his great office to be misled into an absurd attempt to forestall church members in their organized effort on behalf of the general uplift.

Of course it is silly to talk of accomplishing anything without organization. The brewers organize and their organization acts, as an organization.

The church stands, ready organized, for good work. Who shall say that the church must keep in the background when organized lawlessness walks abroad and invades high places and dictates public policies?

The governor ought to quit taking instructions from the Steve Fleming brewery campaign bureau.

OLD JOHN HENRY.

TAGGART'S HOPES.

Oily Boss Whistles Encouragement to Followers in Democratic Woods.

Tom Taggart is not so discreet in the role of political prophet as John Kern appears to be these days. True to his habit of long standing, Mr. Taggart is bestowing predictions of Democratic victory with the same old lava-lava generosity.

Mr. Taggart does not like the growing confidence and enthusiasm in Republican ranks in Indiana. Apparently he is not pleased by the report that Col. Roosevelt and President Taft are coming to Indiana to speak this campaign. Evidently the French Lick boss of Democrats regards it as necessary to cheer up his faltering followers.

In order to meet a political emergency of a serious nature, he bobbed up a day or two ago and at Indianapolis gave out a typical Taggart statement in which he said: "It's a cinch for Democracy. Senator Beveridge will soon be numbered with the 'has-beens.' It is a cinch the Democrats will carry Indiana both for the state and legislative tickets. I figure that the coming of Col. Roosevelt to Indiana will do the Democrats more good than thirty Democratic speakers. I will be on hand to do what I can for Kern when the time comes."

Mr. Taggart did not go into details to show why Col. Roosevelt would boost the Taggart cause.

Steve Fleming, head of the state organization of brewers, who "happened in" coincidentally with Mr. Taggart, sought to show that Col. Roosevelt would not be able to influence the views of Indiana voters in a political way. Mr. Fleming refused to talk on the matter of the Democratic revolt against brewery domination. He did not try to account for the fact that many Democratic county conventions are repudiating the liquor plank he wrote for Indiana Democrats.

BRYAN'S FIGHT AGAINST GANG

Bosses Cannot Coax Commoner Within Party Corral.

WHY TAGGART PUTS UP BARS

Men Who Betrayed Bryan and Kern in 1908 in Many States, Including Indiana, Cannot Expect Any Quarter in 1910 Battle for Rights of People—Kern Chooses to Flock With Iscariot Squad.

[Indianapolis Letter.]

In seeking a reason for the Taggart quarantine which bars W. J. Bryan out of the Indiana Democratic campaign of 1910, the reader of current events need go no further than the dispatches from Lincoln, Neb., in which is told the story of Mr. Bryan's present political crusade.

In a speech supporting county option in the Democratic county convention held at Lincoln, Mr. Bryan aroused tremendous enthusiasm, and carried the delegates with him, 134 to 31. In the preliminary struggle Mr. Bryan won, and he is making plans for a state wide campaign in Nebraska against the selfish interests which control the Democratic party, and which are striving at this time to prevent the adoption of a temperance plank in the Nebraska Democratic state convention.

Closing his intensely dramatic speech Mr. Bryan said: "We have a fight before us. I have decided what I am going to do. Those who desire to come with me, come. Those who desire to stay at home, stay."

Mr. Bryan made no effort to conceal his feeling that Indiana, Ohio and Missouri were lost to him in his 1908 race for president because of treachery on the part of the element, which, in Indiana is represented by Tom Taggart and his close corporation of brewers.

In forcing the fight against the liquor men in Nebraska, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio, Mr. Bryan not only is bent on reprisals, but is taking up a cause in which most of his followers in those states are interested already.

The Bryan movement in Nebraska has its counterpart in Indiana. Mr. Bryan's writings and speeches in Nebraska are complimented in Indiana by the actions of his loyal followers.

The trail of the new Bryanism is seen in Hancock county, where a candidate for the Democratic house leadership is marked to be slaughtered at the polls. The marks of Bryan can be found on the Boone county Democratic resolutions which repudiate the Taggart platform passed by the Democratic state convention.

Again in Wells county is found trace of Bryan's power with the people, and as in Wells, so in Johnson, the local Democrats have repudiated their own state platform.

It is so also in Bartholomew, Clinton, and in many other places. Everywhere in Indiana the Democrats who love Bryan are giving heed to his voice.

They hear Mr. Bryan at Lincoln, saying: "Those who desire to come with me, come." And in large numbers on the anti-Taggart issue, as well as on other Democratic issues which Taggart has dropped, the rank and file Democrats are sending word to Bryan that they have decided to follow him. "Those who desire to stay at home, stay," says Mr. Bryan.

John W. Kern, running mate of Bryan in 1908, apparently chooses the discretionary part of valor, and prefers to "stay at home" during the Bryan crusade against the bosses.

Many Indiana Democrats regret that Mr. Kern cannot see his way clear to join them in their fight for the preservation of their rights to govern themselves in their own communities.

KOWTOW TO TOM.

Just to prove to the people that Tom Taggart is boss in the Indiana Democratic organization, the Indiana Democratic editors at French Lick in mid-summer meeting, passed the following resolution:

"We have long known and appreciated the kindly qualities of heart of our host, the Hon. Thomas Taggart. We have often had brought to our attention his philosophy of life that it is better to give than to receive, and that a man's life is noble just in the degree he serves his fellows. The splendid entertainment he has again this year provided for the members of our association, at his great French Lick hotel, is another evidence of his generous nature, and we experience a genuine pleasure in assuring him in a public manner of our personal attachment to him as a friend and of our unbounded faith in him as a man and a citizen."

All of which is exceedingly encouraging to Democrats who in the past have made the good fight against Taggart. Incidentally this resolution by Indiana Democratic editors leaves no doubt as to the true situation in the Democratic camp.

TAFT DAY WILL BE BIG EVENT

President to Speak August 30 At Winona Lake.

TEDDY GIVES FIGHTING EDGE

Galaxy of National Stars Coming to Speak for Indiana Republican Ticket Includes Nelson, Dilliver, Smith, Depew, Cummins, Bristow, Bradley, Smith, La Follette, and Many Others—C. W. Fairbanks Expected to Help.

[Indianapolis Letter.]

Indiana Republican now know what Theodore Roosevelt meant when he spoke to the heedful foreigners of "the fighting edge." Knowledge that Col. Roosevelt and President Taft are coming to Indiana this campaign has served to give Republicans the "fighting edge" that is needed for winning.

When Col. Roosevelt speaks in Indiana October 13, he will speak for the success of the Republican ticket. He will make the right sort of a speech. He will appeal in the most direct, convincing and simple way to all sorts of voters. Not only will he make the proper appeal, but he will put the proper spirit into the rank and file of party workers.

President Taft will be able to tell Indiana people of great things achieved by his administration through a Republican congress. He will be able to point to accomplishments and to pledge further progressive good. So President Taft's coming is a matter on which Indiana Republicans are congratulating themselves. He will be in Indiana August 30. He will be heard at Winona, where he will be presented and surrounded by the best of the Republican party has to show in Indiana.

Taft day and Roosevelt day will loom large in Indiana politics this year. But Roosevelt and Taft are not the only stars to be seen in the 1910 campaign.

Governor C. E. Hughes, of New York, who made one of the strongest speeches of the 1908 campaign in Indiana, probably will be heard in several speeches this year. Senator J. P. Dilliver, of Iowa, is coming. Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, has offered his great services. Senator A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, is a volunteer in the cause of the Indiana Republican ticket. Senator W. A. Smith, of Michigan has offered his voice to the party. Senator William Bradley, the eloquent, of Kentucky, is to come and help. Senator J. L. Bristow, of Kansas, is another notable on the list. Senator C. M. Depew, of New York, one of the east's matchless orators, is available for Indiana duty. Senator W. A. Borah, of Idaho, may be heard here. Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, former vice-president, is to be urged to help win the campaign, and if his business affairs and health permit, he will be heard.

ROOSEVELT'S REASONS.

Why Teddy Will Make Political Speeches in Indiana.

There are good reasons why Col. Roosevelt should feel friendly towards Indiana Republicans. He remembers that 94,000 plurality rolled up in Indiana in his presidential race. He recalls the fact that Indiana sent loyal representatives to congress who stood valiantly for the great Roosevelt policies.

Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, was close to Col. Roosevelt when the latter was president. Senator Beveridge urged the Roosevelt policies on the floor of the United States senate.

It will be recalled that President Roosevelt sent a special message to congress urging the passage of the Beveridge meat inspection bill. The senior senator from Indiana was with Col. Roosevelt for the bill creating a department of commerce and labor. They were together for conservation. They fought together against the evils of child labor and for the lessening of the evil of sweat shops and women labor. Beveridge and Roosevelt have been together for better railroad regulation. They are both fighting men, both hard workers, hard students, clear thinkers, vigorous, manly, and thoroughly American in their progressive ideas.

Senator Beveridge seconded the nomination of Roosevelt for president in the Chicago convention of 1904, and later stumped the country for Roosevelt.

REVOLT SPREADS.

Democrats in Many Counties Fighting Against Democratic Platform.

Democrats have yet to nominate 34 candidates for state representatives, and 10 Senatorial candidates. Now that Boone, Wells and Johnson county Democrats have led off with blunt and formal repudiations of the Democratic state platform on the liquor issue, it is expected that a whole lot more trouble will be kicked up in the counties yet to be heard from. Most of the counties yet to hold nominations are of the dry sort, and unless the nominees pledge themselves to uphold existing temperance laws, there are bound to be some big splits in the Democratic party, and a large measure of disappointment for the interests says it is surprising how many old-fashioned remedies are being used, which goes to show that it is hard to improve some of our grandmothers' old, time-tried remedies. For instance, for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy, nothing equaling our grandmothers' "sage tea" has ever been discovered. Although, by the addition of sulphur and other ingredients, this old-fashioned brew has been made more effective as a scalp tonic and color restorer. Nowadays when our hair comes out or gets faded or gray, instead of going to the garden or garret for herbs and making the "tea" ourselves, we simply go to the nearest drug store and ask for a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. This preparation is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

Against Progress.

Senator Shively is against the tariff commission idea. It may be added that the same statesman came out against the postal savings bank bill immediately after the jokers had been removed from it. Further, it may be said that Senator Shively made up his mind to oppose the postal savings bank bill immediately following Senator Joe Bailey's interview attacking the measure. Most significant of all is the fact that the postal savings bank bill, when opposed by Bailey and Shively, had been so framed as to carry exactly the provisions demanded by both the Democratic and Republican national platforms. Few, indeed, were the Democratic congressmen who opposed this beneficent and wise legislation. But among the few were ten of the Democratic congressmen from Indiana, presumably all led astray by that prince of platform repudiators, Joe Bailey of Texas, and his "Me Too" assistant, Ben Shively of Indiana. It is the shame of Indiana that the State did not have in congress at the recent session men of brains, progressive intelligence and keen vision, who could place Indiana at the front in favor of sound and sane measures, such as the postal savings bank bill. Indiana people are in a fair way to remedy conditions. The next Indiana delegation will be made up of men who cannot be led by the nose into error and reaction. The next delegation will be largely Republican, for the people, and against Joe Bailey and his lobby friends.

The Democratic Menace.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

A dispatch from Pittsburg which outlines the hopes and fears of that industrial center, says that "political contingencies are having a direct bearing on trade conditions, and a dread of what may happen at the polls next November is having more influence on business prospects than is generally supposed." This refers to the possibility of a Democratic victory for congress. Nowhere in the dispatch is the Democratic party mentioned, but every reader will understand that that party is meant. It can not mean the Republican party. The Republican party holds power now, and for four out of every five conservative, thinking men hope that it will retain power for many years longer. A Republican victory always strengthens instead of weakens trade. It sets idle wheels in motion, sends wages up, and stimulates legitimate enterprise everywhere. It is the Democratic party which is meant by the alarmist dispatch. Probably other industrial centers besides Pittsburg are keeping the possibility of a Democratic victory before them as a deterrent to business expansion until after the election.

What are the chances for a Democratic victory this year? The average observer sees no probability of that sort, but, of course, there is a possibility. Capital and enterprise are cautious in the face of possible peril. That a Democratic victory would cause a setback in trade is certain. If the Democrats should carry the House on November 8 there would be a sharp drop the next day in all the active stocks on our exchanges. American shares on every foreign market which deals in them would fall violently. Democrats realize this as well as Republicans. But the intelligent Democrats who will be sufficiently daring to brave all the risks of casting a Democratic ballot will believe that the fall would be only temporary. He will think that the scare would soon blow over and that normal Republican business would be restored before serious damage was done. This is a dangerous kind of faith. A Democratic House could pass no disturbing acts. It would be held in check by the Senate. But if, with the aid of insurgent votes, it could control the Senate, the president would still be on guard. As a portent of Democratic victory in 1912, however, a victory in 1910 would be an evil omen. It would put off for at least two years the trade rally which would come this year if the Republicans should win. This is the peril which the Pittsburg dispatch refers to, and it adds that "there may not be much improvement at this center until after the voting day."

Aside from this menace of a Democratic triumph the basic trade conditions are sound. Owing to the sharp decline in spring wheat in the past few weeks the aggregate wheat crop will be smaller than that of 1909. But some of the other cereals promise to be much above the recent average. Oats has a chance to cross the 1,000,000,000-bushel mark, and beat the record year 1909. Corn, the imperial crop of the American farmer, looks now as if it would go above the 3,000,000,000 line, as compared with 2,927,000,000 in 1906, the year in which the highest mark was reached. Cotton, too, gives promise of a yield closely approximating 13,000,000 bales, and may pass that line, as it did in 1904, 1906 and 1908. If corn and cotton should meet present expectations this would beat all the crop years of the past in the general aggregate. To supplement the $1,750,000 gold which started from London to New York at the close of last week, $2,000,000 more was ordered for shipment to us yesterday. Financiers are estimating that $40,000,000 may come between now and Christmas. It could come much quicker than this if we really needed it. In November and December, 1907, at the height of the financial scare, we imported $107,000,000 of gold from the outside world. We did this too, in the face of powerful barriers, which were set up against us by the big banks of England, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium. The increase in the reserves of the New York Associated Banks shows that money is plentiful on our side of the water, and that the gold which is headed for us is not needed. Nevertheless, its importations will have a bracing effect sentimentally. It shows that the country will be in no lack of funds when crop moving sets in, regardless of the dimensions of the crops. For several days past the stock market has been strong. Prices are higher than they were a week ago. Wall street keeps the chances of Democratic victory in mind and is cautious on that account in its commitments. But Wall street takes the sensible view that the Republican party is likely, after all, to retain control of the government, despite the ominous overturn in the special elections early in the year.

Dairy Industry Increases

According to the last year book of the department of agriculture there the 21,720,000 milk cows in the United States, and these are worth $702,945,000. The magnitude of the industry can perhaps be best understood when it is considered that these cows produce yearly about $1,000,000,000 worth of dairy products.

There is no other branch of diversified agriculture so important to the progress of a community. The fertility of the soil can best be maintained by the liberal use of barnyard manure, and the dairy herd not only makes this possible, but dairying is also more remunerative than other branches of farming when properly carried on.

Dairying has made wonderful progress since the advent of the modern creamery, and the consumer of butter has not only been benefited by being furnished a more wholesome and palatable article of food, but the wife in the farm home has been relieved of the drudgery incident to making butter on the farm. Where formerly the cream was ripened and churned into butter under conditions not conducive to fine quality in the finished product, and in the majority of cases by unskilled hands, now the most of the milk or cream is delivered to a modern creamery where conditions are suited to the purpose of making butter, and the result has been a wonderful improvement in the quality of our dairy products. As the quality has improved consumption has increased, and the progress of dairying has been remarkable during the last decade.

The perpetuity of the country's greatness depends upon increasing the production of farm products from year to year, a result which not only furnishes our people with food, but maintains the prosperity of our farming communities. Increase in production can only come through improved methods of agriculture and soil improvements. When it is considered that the dairy cow is the foundation for soil improvement and farming prosperity, her importance is best understood, and interest in her should not be confined to her owner. She is an important factor in the development and prosperity of our country.

Kissing Versus Cussing

According to Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, kissing is not worse than cussing, says the Commercial-Appeal.

It may appear so in the eyes of the distinguished gentleman who said so, but the question naturally arises as to what Dr. Wiley knows about it. It is probably likely that he knows a great deal about cussing and not very much about one of the human delights chanted in song and story.

Kissing has played a great part in the history of the world.

While fascinating, the kiss is sometimes dangerous. The kiss sometimes expresses the tenderest love, and at other times there lurks a breath of betrayal in the contract of lips.

Dr. Wiley differs with the propaganda which originates in Cincinnati.

The anti-kissing crusade goes on and on, and many sensible reasons are advanced why the habit should be abolished. No doubt diseases are communicated in this way. People who are sufferers of any communicable sickness should not kiss. This is all true enough, but how is the custom to be stopped, and who for a minute believes that it ever will be stopped?

The scientific statement from eminent authority that kissing is worse than cussing does not worry Dr. Wiley, but he is in the rural department of the government; and, after all, is nothing but a chemist, and is no doubt so innoculated with drugs that it would be difficult for a microbe to find lodgment in his system, anyway.

One thing Dr. Wiley has done. He has made the young folks happy by discouraging the Cincinnati theory.

There is much to be said on both sides. A kiss is frequently a perilous proposition. More than one Rushville home has been destroyed because of a kiss slyly given. It was a kiss which betrayed Christ. It was a kiss which in ancient times was accepted as a means of betrayal. Yet a kiss has in it all of the honey of which poets sing. Without a kiss, where would a woman be? A kiss is life to the young girl and happiness to the matron. Even after the bright meridian of existence has been passed, a kiss still holds a certain amount of fascination in it.

However, the crusaders say that kissing is worse than cussing. They may continue their cry. They may preach against kissing from the housetops. What good will it do? What would the world be without this cherished custom? What would life be worth, anyhow, if it wasn't for a kiss?

Mad Dogs Numerous

According to a report for the month of June compiled by Dr. J. P. Simonds, superintendent of the State bacteriological laboratory, the rabies situation in Indiana is alarming. During the month 27 heads were received for investigation. The chief centers of infection are around Kokomo and Richmond.

Heads of three dogs and two cows were received from Kokomo and all had rabies. Information received from Dr. H. G. White, of Kokomo, show that 17 hogs, 11 dogs and four cows near Kokomo have had rabies.

Fourteen cows belonging to E. C. Commons, of Richmond, were bitten during the month of May by a rabid dog which came into Indiana from Ohio. All of the cows died.

During the month of June nine persons were bitten by rabid dogs. Heads of rabid dogs were received at the bacteriological laboratory from Laporte, Howard, Delaware, Marion, Rush, Shelby, Jackson, Jennings and Vanderburg counties.

His prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. An Expert's Opinion of Skin Disease.

A prominent, national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a disease to conquer as Eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin disease, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Mr. F. E. Wolcott will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin disease and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand offers a Biograph comedy tonight entitled "What the Daisy Said." A time-honored superstition is verified "He loves, he loves me not, he loves me." What faith have we not placed in the floral prophet when we were in the spring of life! Infallible was its answer when we pulled off each petal repeating the above litany. At the opening of this Biograph subject we find two sisters in the daisy field asking of that little mystic flower the momentous question, "Does he love me?" The answer in both cases is "Yea," and off the happy little maid-skip toward the homestead, and it is then their troubles begin. Leon Maxey will sing "Betsy Ross."

The management of the Vaudet theater offers a good program to-night in the big Imp feature film, "The Devotion of Woman or Reunion of the Squaw's Last Act." It is said to be a drama of rare quality and highly entertaining. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace will show tonight the film, "Old Glory." As the title would indicate, the picture is a patriotic one and is said to be so real that it will not fail to imbue anyone with the spirit of the country. Miss Iva Brown will sing a new illustrated song.

How to Cure Eczema, Pimples, And Dandruff.

We desire to say that when we took the agency for ZEMO, we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for Eczema, pimples, and dandruff. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as ZEMO has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like ZEMO too, because it is a

ZEMO effects its cures by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase, we give a booklet on skin disease explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp diseases by this clean, scientific remedy. F. E. Wolcott, Druggist.

CHAPTER XVII.

WHEREIN THE PRESIDENT PRESIDES.

BEFORE the exciting story so rudely interrupted is resumed it may be well to set down in their sequence the queer workings of fortune which led to Philip's timely reappearance at Las Flores.

His troop of scouts consisted of twenty-eight men. Five were sailors and firemen from the Andromeda; three were Germans from the Unser Fritz. But the whole eight were ex-soldiers, and one man at arms trained on the European model is worth ten of the Brazilian product. The remaining twenty were hillmen, good riders, excellent shots and acquainted with every yard of the wild country within a radius of a hundred miles. They would fight anybody if well led, and here it may be observed that when Philip called on them to storm the ballroom he said "Come on!" between which curt command and its congener, "Go on!" these half breed warriors drew a fine distinction. The language difficulty was surmounted partly by an interpreter in the person of one of the Germans, who spoke English and had lived in Bahia, partly by signs and largely by Philip's methods as a leader.

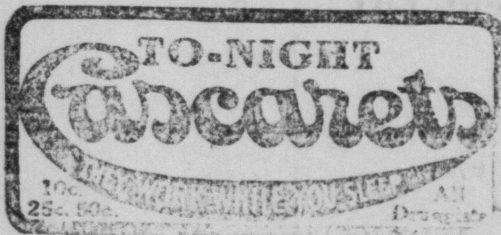

He never asked his men to do anything that he did not do himself, and they were never dubious as to his tactics, since he invariably closed with any Nationalist detachment met during the day's operations.

About midday, then, they came upon the advance guard of a column sent off a week earlier by the expert at Pesqueira with instructions to arrive at Las Flores before sunset that very day. Instantly the twenty-nine charged. With equal celerity the advance guard bolted. From the crest of a rocky pass Philip looked down on a

FALLING HAIR

Can Easily be Stopped, Also Dandruff and Itching Scalp.

If Parisian Sage doesn't stop falling hair, itching scalp, and eradicate dandruff in two weeks, F. B. Johnson & Co. stands ready to refund your money without argument or red tape of any kind.

Parisian Sage will put a fascinating radiance into any woman's hair in a few days. It quickly cools the scalp and drives away the obnoxious odors.

Susanne Calahan, of Hotel Royal, Bucyrus, Ohio, on March 25, 1910, wrote: "Last August my mother's hair began to come out very badly and her scalp was so sore it was very hard to do anything for it. We decided to use Parisian Sage and it proved a GRAND SUCCESS in every way. Her hair stopped coming out, dandruff all disappeared, soreness all left the scalp and her hair is coming in again very nicely. We only used three bottles.

We recommend it to every one needing it and feel that we cannot praise Parisian Sage too highly."

Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere and by F. B. Johnson & Co., for 50 cents a large bottle. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Why, of course. It couldn't very well be fixed after, could it?"

"No—not as between you and her. I can vouch for that. Forgive me, Mr. Bulmer. I have a daughter of marriageable age, you know, and I speak as a parent. Do you think that it is a wise thing for a man of your years to marry a girl of twenty?"

"If I didn't I wouldn't do it." "But may it not be selfish?"

Then downright Lancashire took hold of the argument. "Look here! What are you drivin' at?" demanded Dickey, now in a white heat of anger. He had yet to learn that the president preferred a straightforward way of talking.

"I want you to forego this marriage," he said. "Why?"

"Because that charming girl loves another man, but feels that she is bound to you. I understand the position at last. Mr. Bulmer, you cannot wish to break her heart and drive that fine young fellow, Philip Hozier, to despair. Come, now! Let you and me reason this thing together. Possibly when she agreed to marry you she did not know what love was. She is high minded, an idealist, the soul of honor. What other woman would have consented to be separated from her friends on Fernando Noronha merely because it increased their meager chances of safety? How few women, loving a man like Philip Hozier, who is assured of a splendid reward for his services to this state, would resolutely deny the claims of her own heart in order to keep her word?"

Bulmer had never heard any one speak with the crystal directness of Dom Corria. Each word chipped away some part of the fence which he had deliberately erected around his own intelligence. Certain facts had found crevices in the barrier already. Dom Corria broke down whole sections. But he was a hard man and stubborn, and his heart was set on Iris.

"You are mighty sure she is wrapped up in this young spark?" he growled.

"Were I not I would not have interfered. Take my advice. First ask yourself an honest question, then ask the girl. She will answer. I promise you that."

"I'm a rich man," persisted Dickey. "Yes." "Nobody forced 'er one way or the other."

TAINTED NEWS FOR DEMOCRATS

Tavener Stuff Investigated By Hoosier Editor.

CONFIRMS BIG TRUST STORY

Ridder and Oelrichs Connection Accounts for Harmon-Parker-Cleveland Complexion of 1910 Democracy in Indiana, and May Explain Those French Lick Editorial Cheers at Mention of Grover—Bryan Relegated by Taggart.

[Washington Letter.]

Your correspondent ran across a Democratic newspaper man from Indianapolis a day or two ago. He was here on pleasure bent, incident to a vacation trip, but made it a point to inquire into the source of those C. H. Tavener letters which are being sent free of charge from this city to 150 Indiana Democratic papers. I may say that the inquiring Democratic journalist went back to Indiana completely disgusted. He asked to be kept out of print. He found out a few things. Here they are:

Tavener, with many busy stenographers, deals out tainted dope for the international shipping combine, to many papers in many states, all free. So much for the Taggart philanthropy.

The Tavener bureau is allied with the steel trust, the sugar trust, the oil combine, the harvester trust and the beef trust.

Tavener was given his job on the recommendation of Hermann Oelrichs, who was head of the international shipping combine.

Oelrichs and his big trust, were allied with steel, oil, sugar, beef and harvester trusts.

Oelrichs had charge of Democratic national finances in Cleveland's time and in the heyday of Alton Parker, and through him the trusts managed the Democratic party.

Hermann Ridder followed Oelrichs as treasurer of the Democratic national committee, and Ridder in his turn, represents the allied trusts, and the wedding of these monster combines with the Democratic party.

Ridder, incidentally, is charged with influencing the Associated Press, which may account for the supposed decline in popularity of that once great news agency. He is a director and vice-president of the Associated Press.

Oelrichs was the man who threw the foreign shipping combine's influence and money against the second election of President Harrison, because the big interests could not influence Harrison their way.

Ridder, who succeeded Oelrichs, and Tavener, the tool of the trusts, are boosting Harmon for the Democratic nomination for president, and are pointing out how much Harmon resembles Grover Cleveland, to whose campaign Oelrichs, "personally," gave $50,000.

It will be recalled that Hermann Ridder "personally," gave $30,000 to the Parker campaign fund.

Tavener, in a recent congressional inquiry, admitted the queer purposes of his bureau and the source of its unusual policies and inspiration.

What the inquisitive Indiana editor wants to know is: "How far can the Tavener stuff be trusted?" And also: "Has Taggart started another trust bureau in Indiana to boost Harmon?"

Hoosier Objects to Paying Taxes on Money Lost at Poker.
Indianapolis, July 19.—Maybrey Kibler of Newton county appeared before the state board of tax commissioners to appeal from the action of the county assessor, who listed him for $6,000 cash. Kibler paid taxes on the money last year and the year before, but claimed that he did not have it on March 1 of this year. When asked what had become of it he replied that he had lost the entire sum at poker in Chicago.

Federal grand jury investigation of the so-called beef trust has begun in earnest at Chicago.

SHOT TO DEATH WHILE ASLEEP

Farmer Murdered As He Lay Beside Wife and Children.

EMPLOYEE IS UNDER ARREST

Greensburg, Ind., July 19.—Albert Sprague, aged thirty-seven, a farmer whose home is ten miles southwest of this city, was murdered in bed while asleep with his wife and two children. Mrs. Sprague says that she was awakened about midnight by the report of a shot and called her husband repeatedly. Receiving no answer, she reached over to shake him, and in doing so her hand came in contact with warm blood. Jumping from the bed, Mrs. Sprague ran into the hall to call Ben Noble, a farm employee who occupied an upstairs room. He did not answer, but she heard him moving around in a room on the lower floor, directly across from the room in which the murder was committed.

Mrs. Sprague lighted the lamp and, hurrying to the kitchen where her husband's shotgun was usually kept and loaded, she found it in its accustomed place, but the gun was warm and smoking and a loaded shell was in it. The woman asked Noble to notify the neighbors, but instead of going directly Mrs. Sprague says he would start and then return, attempting to console her. This he did several times but finally spread the alarm.

Noble says he went to bed about 10 o'clock. However, his bed shows that he only lay across the foot of it, evidently without undressing. Noble was arrested and brought to this city.

Feeling against Noble is strong here, but no violence is feared. Noble and Sprague were on the best of terms and had never had trouble of any kind.

Sprague's death was caused by a load of shot from a twelve-gauge shotgun, which entered just below the right ear at the base of the brain and ranged upward.

London, July 19.—Scotland Yard now believes that Dr. Crippen, wanted for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore, an American actress, if he did not flee to America, is still in London, and they express confidence of arresting him here. They are convinced that he has not gone to the continent.

Regent's canal has been dragged unsuccessfully for the victim's bones, Inspector Dow, describing the remains at the inquest, said they consisted simply of a mass of human flesh carved from the bones, of which there was not the slightest trace.

The coroner's inquest brought into prominence the remarkable remissness of the police in not watching Crippen and in allowing him a clear start. The absence of any sort of explanation of this fact continues to be sharply criticized. The doctor's statement suggests the diabolical deliberation with which the murderer carved up the body, the awful work necessarily taking several hours. It was presumably carried out in the cellar, where the flesh was later buried, as there were no marks of blood anywhere else in the house.

THE BODY DISSECTED
Revealed That Belle Elmore's Flesh Had Been Carved From the Bones.

New York Detectives Alert.
New York, July 19.—Inspector Russell, head of the detective bureau, has heard from Scotland Yard that Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen and Miss Neve, or Le Neve, as she calls herself, may be on the steamer Kroonland, which is expected to dock tomorrow morning.

Burns Arrested at His Home.
Evansville, Ind., July 19.—John W. Burns, former city attorney at Rockport, who is charged with obtaining large sums of money from the banks at Rockport, Lake and Elberfeld, was arrested at his home in Rockport. The charge on which the arrest is made is for the forgery of a $600 check on a bank at Richland.

W. J. Bryan has given his official endorsement to the candidacy for United States senator from Nebraska for Richard L. Metcalfe, editor of the Commoner.

It is said the majority report of the congressional committee which heard the Ballinger charges, which will be made soon, will exonerate the secretary of the interior.

When she refused to give a sum of money to her stepson, Otis Brown, the boy drew a gun and fatally shot Mrs. J. C. Brown at Oxford, N. Y. The young man then shot himself through the brain, dying at once.

Three solid trainloads of cotton have left New Orleans for New York, consigned to the bears short on the cotton exchange. The trains have about 4,500 bales of cotton and take precedence over all other trains.

PRESIDENT TAFT NOW ON THE ROLLING WAVE

A Ten Days' Cruise Up the North Shore.

Beverly, Mass., July 19.—President Taft and party are now on the rolling wave, enjoying a cruise up the north coast. The Mayflower, which left Beverly yesterday, is today at Eastport. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be spent at Bar Harbor; Saturday at Bangor, where the president will spend the night at the home of Senator Hale. Sunday and Monday, cruising near Bar Harbor and Islesboro, with a stop at the latter place; Tuesday at Rockland; Wednesday at Biddeford Pool; Thursday arrive at Beverly.

Miss Helen and Robert Taft did not accompany the party on the trip, as they are at Murray Bay for a few weeks' stay, and will return to Beverly on the arrival of the president's party here July 28. The executive offices in the Mason building will remain open and the regular office force will be kept at work under charge of Assistant Secretary Rudolph Forster, looking after the president's mail. No letter will be sent him unless it is of great importance. The president is likely to witness part of the Royal Seawanhaka international races which will take place off West Manchester at the end of the month.

A duty which the president will be asked to perform on his return is to lay the cornerstone of the new Y. M. C. A. building, which will cost nearly $100,000. It will be erected on Cabot street, opposite the executive offices. The president made the first contribution toward the building, of $100.

Before leaving Beverly the president did not neglect to inquire for Michael Di Grigordio, who is recovering from injuries received some time ago by being run over by an auto driven by Robert Taft near Prides crossing. The president was informed that Di Grigordio was getting along nicely.

Rev. Sharp Arraigned.
Schenectady, N. Y., July 19.—Rev. Clinton Dewitt Sharp, Seventh Day Adventist, who is charged with abducting Eunice G. The Whittaker girl was committed to the care of the Humane Society as an ungovernable child until after Sharp's case is disposed of.

Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows Said to be Best Which Ever Gave Exhibitions Here.

WAS FAR ABOVE THE ORDINARY

Wild Animal Act the Most Attractive
Feature of Circus Which Had Many Other New Stunts.

The big crowds that saw the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus here yesterday afternoon and evening had nothing but praise for the performance. "It was more like a comic opera than a circus," said one person who wore a pleased smile. But at the same time it was more like a circus than a comic opera and it was a good deal like both.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace show is a feature show. It featured wild animals of the trained variety. It featured acrobats, lofty tumblers and gymnasts, and it also featured clowns, ring features, fine horses and everything else found with a well regulated show.

The show that gave Rushville two performances does not claim to be as big as the syndicated circuses, but it does claim to be as good, and to the minds of man, it is better. Hardly has a circus appeared here in years that has been so universally complimented on the merit of its performances.

Friday was pay day for the Hagenbeck-Wallace show, and as a result the employees left a large wad of money in Columbus where they showed that day. Many of the smaller paid men came down town and spent nearly all of their wages as soon as they were paid, according to the Columbus Republican. One roustabout who drew only $5 a week and his board stepped into a tailoring establishment after he was paid and left $4.91 for purchases. He retained 9 cents to run him until the next week's pay day.

Democracy and They Have the Majority of Delegates.

With regard to the candidacy of Cary Carson, the young attorney of this city, who recently announced himself a candidate for prosecuting attorney on the Democratic ticket, the Shelbyville Republican says:

Word comes from Rushville that a new candidate for the nomination for prosecuting attorney for the Sixteenth judicial district has appeared in the person of Cary Carson, a young attorney with the law firm of Stevens & Carson. That makes four candidates, all of whom are imbued with the idea that the nomination is equivalent to an election.

County pride will cause the Republican to "stand by" John C. Cheney, present incumbent, who by all the rules of custom and precedent is entitled to a renomination. It is not his fault if Rush county is not in possession of a suitable candidate for the nomination for judge, and neither is it good politics for Rush county to insist on hooking two green candidates together for two of the most important offices in the gift of the people of these counties.

Rush county Democrats make a sad confession of weakness when they meekly permit Shelby county to name both candidates, for Rush Democrats ought to insist on naming the Judge. Rush county has one now, and the best one it ever had, by the way, regardless of politics, and Rush county Democrats should demand the place now for a Democrat and let Mr. Cheney continue if he so desires.

Shelby county Democrats contend that they are entitled to the nomination for judge because the last Democratic incumbent hailed from Rush county. Even so, but Shelby county should not demand that both nominees come from here, simply because Mr. Cheney has had but one term.

John D. Megee of Rush county, has publicly stated that he is in a receptive mood and while not seeking the place would accept it if it was the wish of the party. But Shelby is determined to demand that both nominations fall to Shelbyville attorneys, regardless of anything Rush county may say or do. Shelby has the greater number of delegates and will probably control matters, and while getting the nominations will save Rush county with promises of future reward if the voters up there are real good.

The ambitious Democrat in Rush county must contentedly chew his thumb and remain stolidly quiet until such time as Shelby shall agree to open the door. As long, however, as Shelby shall desire the offices just that length of time will she continue to hold them, and neither Megee nor O'Neil nor Carson will receive recognition. Mr. Cheney, you still look good to Shelby county Democracy!

MEET TO REVIVE OLD MEMORIES

Annual Session of Rush County Old
Settlers Association Will be Held August 18.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR YEAR

Urged That Everyone Invite Friends and Relatives From Other Places
For the Association.

The Old Settler's Association of Rush county has been organized for the year and the date of the annual meeting has been fixed. The officers have called the session for Thursday, August 18, to be held at the fair grounds. It is hoped that the attendance this year will surpass that of all former years. An enthusiastic session is anticipated and the newly elected officers urge that all who are interested will plan ahead of time to make that day a vacation and spend it with the old settlers on the fair ground.

The officers of the association have announced that they expect and very much desire that the members of each committee make a special effort to be present at the annual meeting and bring all of the families in their community. Everyone having relatives and friends living in other counties or even in other States, will confer a favor on the officials of the organization by extending them an invitation to meet here with old settlers and revive the association of former days.

The officers wish to urge on the public that the meeting can not necessarily be one of the early settlers all together, but that the old settlers of today are of a more recent generation and are assembling chiefly to perpetuate the memories of the original settlers. The officers also make the announcement that they will be pleased if any person in the county, who may have any relics of the olden times, heirlooms that they would care to exhibit, curiosities of a former period, will bring them to the floral hall at the fair ground on the day of the meeting, where they will be cared for and everyone can view them while they are on exhibition. It is essential that each piece be labeled and give the name of the owner with other particulars and descriptions desired.

The basket dinner will be a feature of the day. Each one attending is urged to bring a well filled basket, loaded down with good Rush county "grub." At the noon hour all of the baskets will be opened and a good old fashioned dinner will be enjoyed. The following officers have been chosen and the committees selected:

State Pharmacy Board Members Resent Charges Against Druggists
Over the State.

WANT SOME LEGISLATION

They Will Urge a Law Providing For Revocation of License in Case of a Conviction.

Decisive steps have been taken by the State board of pharmacy to put a stop to the somewhat extensive violations among the druggists of the State of the law regulating the sale of narcotic drugs, and intoxicating liquors without a prescription from a reputable physician.

A committee, whose membership represents the State board, the Indiana Pharmaceutical Association, and the pharmaceutical colleges of the State, has been named to draft a bill giving the State board power over the licenses of the pharmacists of the State similar to that held by the State board of medical examination and registration over the licenses of physicians. The membership of the committee has not been announced. The committee will draft its proposed measure and lay it before Governor Marshall before having it introduced in the general assembly.

Members of the board and invited pharmacists who met with them at Indianapolis recently were chafing under the charge made in a number of communities that the pharmacists of the State were setting at naught the efforts of the temperance forces to prevent the sale of intoxicants and drugs in various communities. They were ready to acknowledge, they said, that there were many drug dealers who violated the drug law and declared that the associations of reputable pharmacists wished as much as anyone else to compel them to obey the law.

Under the present statute, the enforcement of the measure is made the business of no one in particular with the result that it is usually violated with impunity. The State board believes that with power of revocation in its hands, it can make the present law effective.
